

Key Highlights — Customer Experience Report, March 2026

The support organization made significant progress this quarter across every metric we track. A summary of the most notable movements follows.

- Customer satisfaction (CSAT) rose to 92%, up from 87% last quarter.
- Net Promoter Score (NPS) improved to 61, compared to 54 previously.
- Average support ticket volume dropped 18%, down to 340 tickets per week.
- Average first-response time improved to 2.4 hours, down from 3.9 hours.
- Self-service resolution rate climbed to 47% of all inquiries this quarter.
- Escalation rate to senior support fell to just 6% of tickets.

The support team attributes these gains to the new knowledge-base rollout completed in February, along with two additional hires in the West region.
