

Regional Performance Review — FY2026

The Northeast region had an outstanding year, with revenue climbing to $8.4 million, up sharply from the previous year. The team's disciplined approach to enterprise sales clearly paid off.

The Southeast region also performed well, though management has not yet finalized the exact figures pending an ongoing audit; early indications suggest solid double-digit growth.

The Midwest region posted revenue of $5.1 million, a modest but steady result consistent with expectations for a mature market.

The West region continued to struggle with supply chain disruptions throughout the year. While no formal revenue figure is being disclosed in this summary, leadership has acknowledged the region fell meaningfully short of its internal targets.

The Southwest region delivered $6.7 million in revenue, its best year on record.
